

Dear Parents and Carers,

The children are very engaged in our new topic this half term 'Bright Lights, Big City'. The children have received a very special royal invitation for afternoon tea with "Her Majesty the Queen!" For our 'Memorable Experience' for this topic we will be having a visit from one of our regular volunteers who has agreed to be the Queen for the afternoon.

On Tuesday 20th November, our classrooms will be transformed into a royal space and the children are invited to wear their best attire for the day. This can be a smart suit or a bow tie, a sparkly dress or special outfit. The teachers will be attending in their very best ball gowns, so please dress to impress!

The children will receive an invitation at school next week and I am sure will be very excited about her arrival! Please do not buy anything special, any smart clothes or party outfits will be perfect. The children are invited to wear these clothes for the entire day instead of their uniform so please encourage them to make comfortable choices and that they remember their coats.

Many thanks
