NSPCC Number Day, Friday 7th February 2020

17th January 2020

Dear Parents and Carers,

This year, Barrow Hedges will again be celebrating 'Number Day' on Friday 7th February 2020, in collaboration with the NSPCC.

Children are invited to come into school wearing a 'number' in some form – this could include a badge, a t-shirt with a number printed or stuck on, or face-paint. There will be a prize for the most inventive wearing of a number in each year group! Please note, children should wear school uniform apart from their 'number accessory', and we do stipulate that no sports kits are to be worn please.

Throughout the day, children will take part in a range of number-based activities in class, in order to further raise the profile of Maths, with a particular focus on the theme of measure, place value and the four operations. As we are raising money for NSPCC, we would like children to bring in a donation of £1 to wear their number.

If you have any questions about this day, please do not hesitate to ask your child's class teacher or myself. We look forward to an exciting day!
